MINES TO GIGAWATTS: SUPPLY CHAINS FOR SUCCESS

April 27, 2023 NYC

Northern Graphite CEO, Hugues Jacquemin joined the Mines to Gigawatts: Supply Chains for Success conference in New York on a panel to discuss the investment opportunity in graphite, in the battery supply chain and beyond.

Panelists looked at the massive supply imbalance that is being created amid booming production of Lithium-ion batteries and a plethora of other applications related to the energy transition and electrification, and how North America will source those needs in a sustainable way in a world still recovering from the pandemic and supply chain disruptions. “Developing a reliable, cost effective, clean, purified solution for graphite is absolutely key,” Jacquemin told public and private sector leaders gathered for the one-day event that was hosted by the Quebec Government Office in New York, DLA Piper, Evercore, BloombergNEF and BBA.

The panel was moderated by DLA Piper partner Oliver Wright, and the panel also included Christopher Whalen, Co-Founder and Managing Partner at Mill Rock Capital, and Andy Reynolds, PhD, Chief Technology Officer, NeoGraf Solutions.
